THE ARREST OF TRAIN. — I understand that George Francis Train was rather unceremoniously prevented from sailing in a late steamer for the United States, and also that he caused a telegram to be forwarded to the agent of the Associated Press at Liverpool, to the effect that he had been arrested, on the eve of his departure, by order of the British Government. There is, I believe, no doubt that he was thus summarily arrested, but it is due to the British Government to say that it was for no political offense, and that the place of his present confinement is not in one of the State prisons, but one of those peculiar lodging houses in the vicinity of Chancery Lane, made familiar to us by the writings of Dickens and similar authors. So says the London correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

HOW TO ESCAPE DRAFTING. — One day, recently, an adroit speculator, calculating on the fears as well as the curiosity of those liable to military service, advertised in one of our city papers that, in consideration of the sum of one dollar, sent by him by post to a certain given address, he would forthwith communicate an infallible method by which each person receiving this valuable information could avoid the draft. As many as 100 letters, each inclosing a dollar, reached the ingenious advertiser within 12 hours. In every instance he conscientiously performed his promise, and, without delay, at [illegible] communicated how to evade the draft. The secret, which is well worth knowing, was communicated in the single word "enlist." — Philadelphia Press.

BRUTE CHIVALRY. — The courteous chivalry of the rebels is fully illustrated by the following incident: Gen. Ripley, who is or was the rebel commander at Charleston, has been highly lauded as a chivalrous gentleman. Some months ago, when a large number of Union prisoners were in that city, one of them — a surgeon — died. The subaltern in charge asked Gen. Ripley where he should bury the body, when the Chivalry replied — "Dig a hole and bury him like a d—d dog!" The crime of the deceased was attending his sick and dying countrymen until he himself was worn out.

A WIFE'S IDEAS OF LOYALTY. — A woman near New Bedford opposed her husband's proposal to enlist. He did so, however, and she yielded sorrowfully. They shortly afterward took a walk together. For a long time both kept quiet on the subject that was nearest their thoughts; at once finally the wife spoke: "I suppose you have made up your mind," said she; "but I want you to understand that if you run, I will never live with you again."

A Roman encampment has been discovered on the right bank of the Danube, near Sigmaringen. A great many remains of human workmanship, such as vessels of clay and glass, and iron weapons, together with the bones of animals, have been found.

EXTRA PAY. — General Corcoran will realize about fourteen hundred dollars in extra pay, by reason of his commission as Brigadier being antedated to July 21, 1861.

Sewing rooms have been opened in different parts of England to give employment to young women whom the cotton panic has thrown out of work.

A London comic journal thinks the right man in the right place is a husband at home in the evening.

The Suez Canal approaches completion. Twenty-two thousand workmen are employed on the work.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES IN MINNESOTA. — Washington, Sept. [illegible]. Commissioner Dole, in a letter dated Fort Ripley, Sept. 6th, says: There seems to be two opinions in regard to the Indian troubles in Minnesota. One is that the Indians are not hostile to the whites generally, but had a personal difficulty with the Government employes; another that there is a wide spread dissatisfaction among them, and that they are taking this opportunity for taking revenge, believing our men have all gone to war. Hole-in-the-Day has been requested, but refused, to appoint a time and place for council with Commissioner Dole.

ONE MORE FOOL. — The Danbury, Connecticut Times states that a man named Hoag, of Sherman, so mutilated his right hand by a bush scythe, to get rid of the draft, that he bled profusely, and finally died. What a miserable death!

Operations for the capture of Vicksburg are to be recommenced.

FRIDAY MORNING SEPT 26 1862

The Confiscation Bill.

We had intended some days ago to give a brief synopsis of the Confiscation Bill, but other more pressing matters prevented. The Confiscation Bill is entitled, "A bill to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels and for other purposes."

Section 1st, provides that every person who shall, after passage of the act, commit the crime of treason against the United States and shall be adjudged guilty of the same, shall suffer death, and all his slaves, if any, shall be declared free, or he shall be imprisoned for not less than five years and fined not less than ten thousand dollars, and his slaves be made free, said fine to be levied and collected on any or all of his property, real or personal, exclusive of slaves, of which he may be owner at the time of conviction, &c

Section 2d provides that any person who shall hereafter incite to, or be concerned in, rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States, or shall be concerned in any existing rebellion, or shall give aid and comfort thereto, on conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than ten years, by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, and by the liberation of his slaves

Section 3d renders every person convicted under the provisions of the preceding sections, forever incapable of holding office under the United States Government

By section 4th it is provided that this act shall not affect prosecution for treason committed before its passage

Section 5th makes it the duty of the President, in order to insure the speedy termination of the rebellion, to cause the seizure of all property, money, effects, &c, of the following named classes of persons, to be applied to the support of the army, viz 1st, officers of the army or navy of the so-called Confederate government, 2d, the President, Vice President, members of Congress, judges, cabinet or foreign ministers, commissioner or consul; 3d, the governor of a State, member of any convention or legislature, &c, 4th, those having held offices of honor, trust and profit in the United States, who shall accept an office in the rebel government, 5th, those having held any office or agency under the rebel government whatever, national, State or municipal, 6th, any persons owning property in any loyal State or Territory, or in the District of Columbia, who shall hereafter give any aid or comfort in any manner to the rebellion. It is declared that the provisions of this bill shall apply to the third, fourth and fifth classes enumerated above, when they shall accept their appointment or election since the date of the pretended ordinance of secession of the State, or shall have taken an oath of allegiance to the so called Confederate States.

In section 6th it is provided, if any one in the United States in armed rebellion against the Government, or aiding and abetting rebellion, shall not, within sixty days after public proclamation by the President, cease his rebellion, his property of every kind shall be liable to seizure as above. All sales or transfers made with the intention of defeating the operation of the last two sections are declared null and void.

According to section 7th, proceedings under this act may be instituted in the name of the United States, in any District Court thereof, in any Territorial Court, or in the United States District Court of the District of Columbia, within which the property may be found, or if movable, where it may be brought. Proceedings are to correspond as nearly as may be with proceedings in admiralty or revenue cases, and the property when condemned as enemy's property, will be disposed of under orders of the Courts for the benefit of the United States

Section 8th, empowers the courts above mentioned to carry out the provisions of this act, make valid titles, allow fees to officers, etc

By section 9th, it is declared that all slaves belonging to persons engaged in rebellion and escaping within our lines, or being captured or found in any place occupied by rebel forces, shall be forever free

Section 10th, declares that no slave escaping into another State, etc, shall be delivered up, except on proof of the fact that the person claiming him has not borne arms against the United States, or given aid and comfort to rebellion, and all officers in the army and navy are prohibited from deciding such cases, or delivering up the fugitive under penalty of being dismissed the service

Section 11th, authorizes the President to employ as many persons of African descent as he may see proper in suppressing the rebellion, and he is to judge of the best manner of using them

By section 12th he is authorized to make provision for transportation colonization and settlement, in some tropical country outside of the United States, of such persons of African descent as may be freed by this act, and who may wish to emigrate

Section 13th authorizes the President by proclamation to extend pardon or amnesty as he may deem proper to persons who [illegible] to the penalties and provisions of this act

Section 14th declares the courts of the United States with power to [illegible] the provisions of the act

The following is the joint resolution adopted at the suggestion of the President supplemental to and explanatory of some portions of the act

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, That the third clause of the fifth section of an act to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and for other purposes shall be construed as not to apply to any act or acts done prior to the passage thereof, nor to include any member of a State Legislature or a Judge of any State court who has not, in accepting and entering upon the duties of his office, taken an oath to support the constitution of the so called Confederate States of America, nor shall any punishment or proceedings under said act be so construed as to work a forfeiture of the real estate of the offender beyond his natural life

The bill passed the House on the 11th of July, by a vote of 82 to 42. Shiel of Oregon was among the nays. The same bill passed the Senate by a vote of 27 to 12. Senator Nesmith was not present. Stark of course voted against the bill

LATER FROM THE EAST.

DATES TO SEPT. 20.

McClellan offers Rebels Four Hours to Surrender.

Rebels Refuse and are Completely Surrounded.

McClellan still Fighting and Cutting up the Rebel Army.

Destruction of Bridges and Piers at Harper's Ferry.

YREKA, Sept 2[illegible]

WASHINGTON Sept 19 —A cavalry reconnoissance from Heintzelman's headquarters yesterday, went within 3 miles of Thoroughfare Gap performing the 80 miles in less than 20 hours. Near the Gap they discovered a small force and captured 30 of them among whom were several officers

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 19 midnight —The following is just received from McClellan's army

Early last night the enemy commenced crossing at Shepardtown bridge and forded above and below

During the night McClellan advanced a battery and shelled them

The dead and wounded found this morning evinced the ability of our officers in directing the fire of our guns

Gen Pleasanton was dispatched this morning in pursuit with two batteries and two regiments of infantry to Thoroughfare Gap, and succeeded in cutting off large amount of ammunition, supplies, &c, besides a small portion of a South Carolina brigade

Pleasanton shelled the enemy with effect as they passed through the Gap. The last seen of them they were flying in direction of Winchester, and it is supposed they would retreat precipitately to Richmond

Our entire army has crossed Antietam Creek, and was massed between there and the Potomac opposite Shepardtown.

There is every evidence that McClellan would cross the river

The loss in Generals and field officers in our army is so large as to be unaccountable. Rebel deserters represent the loss of their officers as equally severe

It is understood Burnsides crossed into Virginia via Harper's Ferry, and is moving on the enemy somewhere

Deserters assert that the recent movement of the rebels escaping into Virginia was solely directed by Stonewall Jackson

Generals Lee and Longstreet were either wounded or too fatigued to be efficient

HARRISBURG Sept 19 A feeling of perfect security prevails in official circles. Quite a number of wounded have arrived here and at other points in the Cumberland valley. Rebels took advantage of the cessation of hostilities yesterday to make necessary arrangements for their retreat

The main body crossed the river, —some say at Harper's Ferry and others at Dam No four

NEW YORK, Sept 20 —The Herald's Washington dispatch says information is received that rebels destroyed bridge at Harper's Ferry and blew up the piers and destroyed everything possible at the ferry, and along the line of the road to Martinsburg including splendid bridge at that point

Louisville, Sept 20 —At surrender of Mumfordsville Wednesday morning, the rebels took 4,000 prisoners, who are reported as being subsequently paroled. In Sunday's fight at that point the rebels attacked us with 11 regiments, Tuesday there were 11 hours skirmishing; the rebels endeavoring to gain the north bank of the river. Buckner's division was added to the attacking force and fight renewed. Wednesday it continued until the Federals' ammunition gave out—a surrender followed

ST LOUIS, Sept 20 —Wednesday our troops fought vigorously, and so pushed the rebels that they came at bay. McClellan sent word they would be given four hours in which to surrender the whole army. Believing themselves able to sustain another fight they refused to surrender

McClellan opened fire again, dealing death among their ranks. The ground was strewed with dead and wounded. The rebels are completely surrounded without a possibility of escape. There was no fight Thursday, as our army felt sure of its prey. They must surrender. Friday morning the battle was renewed at Sharpsburg. No particulars have yet been received

HE WAS RIGHT —Gen Banks was ridiculed when he said that he was for calling out a million of men for the prosecution of the war. Now it was seen that he was right and had a better idea of the requirements of the contest than many men in the country ay-Day Thoughts of a Practical Farmer.

The maxim of Bacon, "Knowledge is Power," is never more true than in Agriculture. Hence no farmer who does not avail himself of the fruits of others' experience, and who does not improve his knowledge by perusing good and reliable agricultural journals, can expect to be successful. The prejudices of many against agricultural knowledge in a printed form, or as it is termed "book farming," is absurd in the extreme. Why should not a farmer know more than other folks? They have to make more use of the powers or laws of nature than other folks; they have to use the elements for tools; they are indeed practical chemists, for they have to make use of the various substances with which nature has furnished them; they have to combine, change, separate and modify both simples and compounds. The farm is at the same time both laboratory and work-shop, and in proportion as they operate in such a way as to afford the several elements of which the substances are composed and on which they are operating to dissunite or combine, will be their success. They depend upon the vegetable world for subsistence; their labor is among and upon the plants of the earth; then why should they not understand the nature of producing them? They have to contend with insects and animals; then why should they not know the habits and natures of these as well or better than any other class of people? They have to work upon the earth, to put it in condition to bear a good crop, to change the state of it and to adapt it to their various purposes and crops; then why should they not know the composition and ingredients of the soil with which they work?

Indeed, so wide is the field of his labors, so numerous the objects with which he is connected, so various the operations which he has to perform, that we verily think a farmer ought to be the most learned man on the face of the earth.

But can a man, and most of all, a practical farmer conquer or make himself perfectly familiar with every science and every thing? By no means; nevertheless he should have his mind stored with the general principles of all the sciences, that he may be guided by them when it is necessary to be more particular, and to know when he employed a man devoted particularly to one branch of labor, whether he is competent to the task or not, and will dischage his duty to him with fidelity and precision or not.

The question then occurs, How is the farmer to obtain such a knowledge as I have alluded to? The most powerful means within his reach is the careful perusal of good agricultural papers. While contemplating the immense and incalculable benefits which must necessarily result not only to the farmer and planter, but to the public in general, and to every class of the community in whatever occupation engaged, from the general improvement of agriculture and the powerful tendency of agricultural papers to produce such improvement, the man of reflection who loves his country and who feels any regard for the happiness of his fellow men, cannot but be struck with astonishment, not only at beholding so many of those who are devoted to the profession of agriculture, and who are entirely dependent on it for the supply of all their wants, voluntarily debarring themselves from the easiest and the most agreeable, the cheapest and most effective mode of acquiring knowledge in their profession; but at the short-sighted views of those who are not less deeply interested than the farmer himself in producing that state of improvement on the production of which the prosperity of all is alike dependent. Let every man but ask himself, what would be the effect upon the public prosperity, and on that of every individual of which society is composed, whatever may be his occupation, were the fertility of the land and the quantum of his annual productions doubled or trebled? All must see at a glance that the natural wealth and resources would be in the same degree enhanced. The Government would be enabled to raise double taxes, either for the purpose of defending the country against its enemies, or improving it by the construction of roads and canals; or, for what is of still greater importance than either, the establishing and sustaining a system of universal education, by which, and by which alone, liberty can be perpetuated, and the people elevated to that dignity and worth of which they are capable.

Would the general circulation of agricultural papers, by diffusing knowledge and by continually presenting to the eye of the agriculturist, clear, unequivocal and demonstrative proof that great and ample rewards are the sure and certain consequences of such exertions, have a tendency to stimulate the community to active and intelligent exertions.

He who doubts this, must believe the gross and impalpable absurdity that the greater knowledge a man possesses of the business in which he is engaged, the more will he be disqualified to pursue it with advantage, and that the more clearly and distinctly the prospect of reward is held out to the farmer for his labor, the greater will be his indolence.

To all, of whatever occupation or character, I would say, if you believe that agricultural improvement would be thus beneficial to your county, conducive to the best interests of yourselves and your fellow citizens; and that the wide circulation of agricultural journals would have a tendency to produce that improvement, would not your patriotism and an enlightened regard for the interests of your county lead you to use your example, exertions and your instructions to extend as widely as possible the circulation of papers devoted in whole or part to agricultural knowledge and agricultural improvement?

Now, a few words to the practical farmer who is convinced of the good both to himself and to the community at large, brought about by agricultural papers.

You by this means obtain the benefit of the experience of others without the trouble and often loss of making the experiment yourself. How is this mass of good matter brought together? The editor of the paper is not as a general thing a practical farmer, and if he was, could not write all the articles in his paper. They are derived from practical farmers like yourself, who give in their experience for the benefit of all. If you wish a good agricultural paper, write for it yourself, and encourage others to do so also. Methinks I hear you say you never did write for public print and do not know how to begin. Be not afraid; write as you would talk, the article is for the benefit of practical farmer who will understand you; fine high flown language is not at all needful, let us have the facts. If you make the attempt, you will find it is not as hard as you imagine; you will soon become interested in it and in the paper.

Depend upon it, an agricultural paper is what the subscribers make it; the editor of a common newspaper has his matter prepared; but I care not how talented or experienced the editor of an agricultural paper may be, it is impossible for him to make a good paper without he is furnished with good practical articles from practical farmers. He may extract from other papers, but the articles must originate if worth anything with the practical agriculturist himself.

Suppose each subscriber of a paper should feel it his duty to contribute but one article yearly, on some subject or crop in which he is most interested, and consequently could write best about; would not the increased value of the paper pay him an hundred fold for his trouble? Every practical farmer should feel it to be his duty to do this and trust the editor for the rest. If you try any experiment and succeed or fail, gain or lose, then communicate it, that your agricultural friends may act accordingly, and gain and not lose.

Try it, and you will benefit many friends of the cause, as well as —Cor. Germantown Telegraph.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY,
Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases, and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending Physician, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War, Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds, Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary, the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Urinary Organs and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

Office Hours, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed, or no pay. Consultations by letter or otherwise FREE.

Address, — DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

"Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws."

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases, Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance, and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs, such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemy to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed on the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system, drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures. Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of California, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, make known their cases and remedial agent and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands of society imperiously command their publicity, and we commend them to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate. The undersigned, desirous of imparting to those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the permanent recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance; but alas! after a few weeks and in several instances months, of their treatment I found, to my mortification, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength, and energy; and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope called upon Dr. Czapkay, who after examining my case, prescribed some medicines which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice my head became clear and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful, exciting, and at times, pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges have all disappeared, and in fact in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life. That life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of his professional aid, being assured by my own experience that they will be under his care [illegible]
